Hitting the Road: Motor Camping with the Early Tin Can Tourists

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Tin Can Tourists. In 1919 a relatively small group of 24 tourists gathered in Tampa's Desoto Park and founded the organization with the underlying goal "to unite fraternally all autocampers." By 1921, membership had grown to 17,000, and by the following year the organization boasted 30,000 members. Their 1926 convention attracted over 500 camping rigs representing all 48 states, Alaska, Canada and New Zealand.

Join roadside historian and Tin Can Tourists' Hall of Fame member Daniel Hershberger for an informative visual presentation about the early decades of automobile touring and learn about the equipment they carried, where they camped, and how they found their way. Profusely illustrated, this presentation is filled with historical photographs and postcards; vintage advertisements and catalog pages; and early road maps.
